I'm sure, everyone certainly likes beauty. If I read writing on a blog that has no picture at all that will be a little tiring. Especially with long writing. Although the author knows that what he wrote the whole is important to read. But it will not be boring if there is a different appearance. It could be that the image will be a piece of text separator.

If you want a template on your page to be unique compared to others. Give something captivated. Can take a choice of visual colors that are tailored to the design. But not everyone intends to design even though the tools make it easy. In fact, many of them run out of inventory to be displayed.

Why does it have to be as much as to make content? The online world with kinds of reading makes the choice of choices. So if you want to not miss the competition arena, start adapting from now.

If you show something that is not original, it is no different from other content. Like copy and paste it. Your content will be considered more quality if pure. For beginners, you can also, if you want to get something free.

I finally used the original photo backup, coming from the gallery. I take it myself. The advantage, not many people use similar. But sometimes, not all can be used in context.

I use the design that I designed myself. A little touch so appeared different. There are many free tools, even though the elements are limited. At least you can edit it. Indeed, you need to learn a little, if Beginner and don't need to spend a lot of money. Unless one day grow and you want to use paid tools. Besides that it can increase SEO benefits. The easier it is detected with Google. Google's e-A-T scores increase.

Show interesting topics. Important is like a head that raises a big principal. Then adjust to the chart/ visual/ element. Google assesses the content of three standards: Skill, Authority, Can be trusted

It doesn't have to be a good visual. But the image supports context and useful. Another advantage if pure, can increase conversion as a digital market, reach many loyal readers.

Not all want us to get a few visitors. Because according to Blogtyrant, the existence of images can make conversion rise to 300 %. But the type also determines. The difference, if not using it will be reduced so to 35 %. According to Brain Rules, the slogan will be received by 10 % but a touch of depiction will increase 65 %.

Of the number of orange oranges, if there are red oranges, like blood oranges. Surely your eyes will immediately be directed to see it. If you are everyday, see orange.

Everyone wants to find a new, fresh, upgrade. Copy makes the reader dissatisfied. You can also offer permission to display images from your friends if your supply is limited. By displaying the credit title in it.

Many people like it if the material is displayed in full. Will feel expert in that field. Not only text, but from different types. Although the placement is adjusted. Divided, not monotonous all the images above, or below. You can enter the sound from bloggers about the topics that you have adopted. Later the answer can be entered in the picture.

The thing to remember about the purpose of the picture. First, as a pause of text. Our eyes will be tired if you see a lot of writing without space. Microsoft said, human attention with the screen was 8 seconds on average. So use your chances as best you can to attract them into the world of your topic. Still you write writing more than 8 seconds, but the picture can be a stop to rest for a moment.

Writing is easy to understand and clear. Solid concept. No small talk. You can try to read your writing again, for editing time. Everyone's glasses can be different, some ask for editing by different people. You find many choices such as charts, diagrams, or other pictures. You can choose a relate image with everyday life. In order to be accepted by the reader. The right time positions when the chart will be displayed, special images with heavy material, or light.

What tools can you edit free?

1. Lucidpress with many selected templates without paid.
2. Adobe Photoshop which is used on average many people, complete tools can help you cooler. Creative cloud is also suitable for professional use.

It can also be an existing image, customized, enter additional elements.

3. Design pickle is also safe to use to work on your content.

There are also Pixlr, Picmonkey.

You can list some of the benefits of the tools, the shortcomings are also thought of according to your purpose.

Even if you have a tablet, just a picture with your pencil. It doesn't have to be good. Or indesign, illustrator which has a maximum editing stage.

With that speed, make your content want to be remembered by the reader. Will come again to the next content. Creative is needed. Many types of images such as cartoons, memes, from gallery, or permission to use from friends. Maybe like a fast moving traffic, sometimes you don't have time to design your work. But you can use tools that are fast and easy.

Just choose, want to pay by saving your time? Or want to not pay using your time to do it? It all depends on your goals and needs.

Brilliant, if you have a team. So you can share tasks with fast time. Share content with maximum quantity and quality.

A gallery in my opinion is like a house to store everything. From those who do not want to be used, even when you photograph a picture will cause new content. So you can prepare it immediately before writing. You can make a folder make it easier when sought. You don't have to use a good camera as long as it's clear, the message is conveyed, the reader can understand.

From there, you can save your money by preparing early. Many happen around our environment. Can be used as an idea. It could be when edited when the image is taken from a smartphone and wants a professional appearance.

There is no word of a bad image, but the goal is important. You can make sure that your picture hasn't been used by Google searches.

How to make your picture look different. Can be from contrasting color, rotate in various degrees, entering a little text, or filter.

What are the steps you choose? In conclusion, determine your goals. If you want to not pay, look for the choice of how to get images with risks that you can handle. You can prepare backups in various ways so that everything runs smoothly. All you can do with maximum purity can be from you yourself who work on or ask for help from friends with the cooperation of profit sharing after your business is profitable. Let's go for mapping out your steps forward!
